Formulation Development

At Daffy Group, we don't just manufacture; we craft experiences tailored to the essence of your brand.

Daffy Group offers comprehensive formulation development services, guiding you from initial consulting and market research to trend analysis. Our skilled formulation scientists work closely with suppliers to create innovative formulas, ensuring safety through rigorous testing for parabens, sulfates, and more.

Private Labelling

Crafting a personal care product that aligns seamlessly with market needs involves a meticulous process. At our core, we design and develop products that not only meet regulations but also resonate with your target audience, all while considering product specifications and costs.
